Frankfort W. O. T. U. Notes.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union meets every Friday afternoon in the chapel of the Christian Church at 4 o'clock. Band of Hope, 5 o'clock, same day and place.

The politicians are crying out that prohibition, wherever it has been adopted, is a failure; the very best sign in the world that it is not a failure. Perhaps they have failed to enforce the law as it should be, in order to make it a failure. Temperance folks have always known that politicians are a "failure," but they went off, and there is nothing like whisky to get votes. It is plain to be seen why prohibition is pronounced a "failure." We would like to hear something from the other side, if there is always "two sides to a question." Perhaps the women could throw some light on the subject.

"One hard boiled egg with every drink" is a sign hung conspicuously in front of a Louisville bar room. A man must be badly in need of something to eat, when he will put a dime's worth of poison whisky into his stomach for the sake of an egg. Boys, aye and men too, have mercy on your stomachs; take the price of the drink and buy your own eggs. Just think of outraged nature after four or five drinks sandwiched with hard boiled eggs.

FRANKFORT, KY., July 8, 1885.
To the Democracy of Franklin County.

In response to the call made on me to become a candidate for the office of County School Superintendent of Franklin county, I will say to the public, as I have said to friends who have conferred with me on the subject, that my private affairs will not prevent me from making the canvass. If the nomination were to come to me as the voluntary expression of the confidence and good will of the people of my county, it would impose the strongest obligation I can know to faithfully perform the duties of the office. I sincerely thank the gentlemen who have kindly expressed confidence in my fitness and ability to perform the duties of County Superintendent, from which the general public expect more perhaps than from any other officer in the county for the advancement of common schools. I believe that I am fully competent to fill the office, and if elected shall try to faithfully discharge the duties of said office. Therefore, I announce myself, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

Respectfully,
JOSEPH E. FEARS.

The greatest book of the age.
Memoirs of Gen. U. S. Grant will soon be ready for delivery.

General Grant, the preserver of all that Washington ever gained for us, the greatest captain of modern times, has written this invaluable history of his impressions of a long and eventful life, extending through the greatest and most bloody rebellion ever known in the history of the world, in which he has covered himself, and his country, with a glory whose story will be told to listening children, long after the present age has passed away. How fitting that the story should be handed down to posterity by a participant in that great struggle, and how fortunate that it is told by the greatest actor in it all.

This is a standard work, and all future American historians will consult its pages in compiling their histories.

It will find a place in every cultured home, and in every public library in the land.

John Gnadinger, Agent for Franklin county; Huffman & Johnson Publishing Co., Lexington, Ky., General Agents.

A Card.

To the Citizens and Democratic Voters of Franklin County:

Being no politician and of course not up to ways that are "dark and tricks and are mean," which seem to abound most plentifully in and around the Court-house square, I will simply state how I have been treated in the last primary election. I announced myself as a candidate for County Clerk in May, 1884, and have been known as such since. By an altivise providence, and the heat of our tettering Democratic Court-house square clique, an election was called for Saturday, July 11th, to choose some one to fill out the unexpired term of our late lamented friend J. B. Crockett.

I let all my friends know that I was going to run for the unexpired term, and to come to the polls Saturday, which they did and found that my name was not on polls books and the report was circulated that I had withdrawn or was running for the long term. I gave no one any authority to start such reports, but Monday, July 6, by direction of one who does and ought to know, directed me to the County Clerk's office to pay for publishing poll book and have my name placed on same. That I did, but found no one in said office who knew how much I had to pay, and said it would be all right, that my name should go on books and made me think that the matter of name being on the books would be attended to without further trouble; but such was not the case. I wanted to comply with the rules governing the election and made tender of the money to defray the expenses of the poll book. No one would take the cash or tell me anything in regard to the matter. I left the office with the full assurance that my name would be on the books.

As I have fully shown how I was served by the parties getting out poll books, I will close by announcing myself as the candidate for the office of County Clerk, subject to the action of the Democratic party at its next primary election for said office, if I can be assured of having my name on the books. Yours truly,
LEE A. OWEN.

Anybody wanting anything in the artist material line, will do well to examine the stock of Joe LeCompte, whose advertisement will be found in another column.

To Get Rid of Misery.

What is the use of suffering from dyspepsia, nervous prostration or debility, when Brown's Iron Bitters will tone you up and cast these horrors off? There is joy in every bottle of this valuable tonic. It makes bad blood good, and bids dispirited people be cheerful. It brings good cheer to the dinner table, and makes the family happy. It drives away the blues, and helps you to enjoy a hearty laugh. And all the respectable druggists keep it.

To the Voters of Franklin County.

Primary elections have become so corrupt and demoralizing to the people of this county that I think it time for them to be repudiated. A gentleman is compelled to degrade himself and the voters, in order to secure a nomination. I made a proposition to one of the County Committee, by whom I was approached, to submit my claims to a primary, provided, all legal voters of the county, who were willing to and would bind themselves to support the nominee, should have a right to vote; this plan the gentleman said would not do. I thought and still think my proposition more democratic than the rule adopted by the committee and refused to submit my name. I then determined to make an independent race and submit my election to the people, to be decided by them at the polls on the first Monday in August.

I will adhere to the position I took when I first announced myself as a candidate, not to use money or whisky to aid my election. I have been accused of being a Republican because I would not submit to the will of oligarchy; in reply, for the benefit of those who are not acquainted with me or my record, I would say for Harrison, Clay, Taylor, Fillmore, Bell, Seymour, McClelland, Tilden, Hancock, Cleveland and Horace Greeley; Mr. Greeley was not my choice, my respect for the Democratic party induced me to vote for him.

Now, I appeal to every voter in this county to come to the polls and vote for me on the first Monday in August.

There are plenty of Democrats in this county that know, as I know, how primaries have been managed, and that a man must stop who hopes to win before them; and to these Democrats I appeal to throw off the shackles, cut loose from the ring and teach our party, if they wish their organization to stand, they must put it upon a clean cut, honest and fair basis. I ask the vote of every candid, honest voter in the county, and if I get it I will be elected by a large majority.

Respectfully,
K. C. STEELE,
Candidate for County Clerk.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT

Entered at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky as second class matter.

GEORGE A. LEWIS, Editor and Publisher.

FRANKFORT, JULY 18, 1885.

About 12 o'clock Thursday night burglars attempted to break into the confectionery of Mr. J. Weitzel, Jr., on St. Clair street. Mrs. Weitzel heard them and awakened her husband, who fired a shot from a pistol in their direction, when they scampered off. The police searched the premises but failed to find any clue to the parties.

The Democratic primary election held on Saturday to select a candidate for County Clerk, to fill out the unexpired term of Mr. Jas. G. Crockett, deceased, resulted in the choice of Mr. N. B. Smith, who is now filling the office by appointment. Mr. Smith certainly is very popular among his old neighbors, for the Bald Knob precinct went solidly for him, 197 votes being cast for him and not one for either of his three opponents. He received a majority of 152 over all three of the other candidates in the whole county.

The party of young people who left this city Wednesday morning on the Hornet, to spend a week in camp at Drennon Springs were rather unfortunate. They did not reach their destination until about six o'clock in the afternoon, and when they had pitched their tents and gotten everything in shape were ready to retire. The commander of the expedition failed to put out a camp guard, and that night the commissary department was attacked by hogs and most of the supplies destroyed or carried off. The next morning skirmishes had to be sent out to capture something for breakfast, and as they could not go the smell of Drennon water, the entire party marched over to a spring a mile and a half away to get a drink of good, clear, straight water.

A rumor that a wild man has taken possession of the Fort Hill has been in circulation for several days, and the colored population with blackberry gathering tendencies have told marvelous stories of his antics, and sought other fields in which to gather berries and chiggers. Some claim to have seen him at nightfall or early morning looking down upon the city from the parapet of the old fort. A party of young men, headed by our City Attorney and Marshal, went up to interview him Thursday afternoon, but aside from taking some healthy exercise and perspiring pretty freely, they accomplished nothing. But the wonderful story told by one of the party to a group of colored people about the strange appearance, gigantic size, and savage yell of the supposed wild man, as he vanished into thin air, or swallowed himself, on their approach, led a colored dame to exclaim: "That's the sunshin in 't, sho'; its dun rained at Farmdale, at Ducker Station, and down de railroad, and we ain't had none; dis place is desputly wicked; de Lord has sent his face agin us an' sent dis a warnin'! I dun tote you niggers."

Editor Roundabout:

Wish you or any voter in this Senatorial District would inform your readers whether Mr. McKee has ever been regularly nominated by the Democrats of Franklin county. Has the Hon. Chairman of the Democratic County Committee ever endorsed or signed said pretended nomination of Mr. McKee? Has Mr. McKee ever resigned his County Judgeship of Anderson County? Has he or any of his friends ever made a pledge that he would vote for certain parties for Public Printer in consideration of certain parties agreeing to silence the clamor of dissatisfied rebel Democrats, who bolted the Lawrenceburg Convention, and are those dissatisfied Democrats now going to humble and satisfy themselves by endorsing the great wrong, perpetuated upon disfranchised Franklin county? An honest and straight forward answer to the above will gratify a great many voters.

A VOTE OF FRANKLIN.

A Democratic meeting was held at the Court House in this city on the first Monday in June, at which the nomination of Judge McKee was endorsed, a large number of those present voting against it. Judge McKee resigned his position as County Judge of Anderson about the same time, and Judge R. H. Crossfield was chosen by the magistrates of that county to fill out his time until the first Monday in August, when an election will be held. The balance of the conundrums we give up.

BORN.

In this city, on Thursday, July 16, 1885, to Dr. C. B. Chinn and wife, a daughter.

In this county, on Monday, July 13, 1885, to Mr. John H. Burditt and wife, a son.

DIED.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.
FRANKFORT, JULY 18, 1885.

Rev. John S. Hays, formerly pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in this city, will open a large female school in Maysville this fall.

Little Miss Pearl Richardson entertained a number of her young friends at the family residence, corner of Campbell and Shelby streets, Thursday evening.

Quite a number of young ladies and gentlemen left this city Wednesday morning on the Hornet, for Drennon Springs, where they will camp out and remain a week.

Messrs. J. Alex. Grant, Henry Duval, Grant Green, Jr., Ed. L. Meagher, of this city, and W. S. French, of this county, were appointed U. S. Storekeepers by Collector Robinson on Saturday.

Isaac Murphy, the celebrated jockey, who was employed at Fleetwood Farm, near this city, has been engaged by "Lucky" Baldwin, the California millionaire, to ride his horses for the next two years, at $5,000 a year.

Mr. John Gnadinger, a gentleman well known in this city and county, has accepted the agency for Gen. Grant's book, the first volume of which is nearly ready for delivery, and will call on our citizens in a few days. The work is finely executed, is the best history of the war yet written, and should be in every household.

The remains of Mr. James G. Wintersmith, Door-keeper of the last House of Representatives of Congress, who died in Louisville on Tuesday, were brought to this city Wednesday for interment. The funeral took place that afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from Ascension Church and was largely attended. The deceased was a former Frankfort boy and had many friends here.

The dredge boat at present engaged at Lock No. 5 will be brought down to this city this evening, and to-morrow will be employed in dredging out a trench in the bottom of the river from Herndon's wharf to the foot of Ann street, and the water main will be laid on Monday. A diver now employed at Lock No. 5 has also been engaged to go down and tighten up the joints of the pipe after they are placed in position on the bottom of the river.

Mr. Boston, Deputy Sheriff of Woodford county, came to this city Thursday morning, and under instructions from Judge P. U. Major, special judge appointed by the Governor to try the case of C. H. Brown, charged with the murder of Freeman, a policeman in Versailles, two years ago, summoned one hundred men from this city and county to go to Versailles on Wednesday in order that a jury might be made up from among them. About eighty of that number went up Wednesday morning, and to walk down the streets of that town about 12 o'clock a person would have thought the Capital City had been moved up into the Blue Grass, so many of our citizens were standing upon the streets waiting for Judge Major's lottery to open up. They had been summoned without regard to age, occupation, previous condition or good looks, and were all anxious to know whether they were going to be compelled to spend the next two weeks in a hot court-room or be allowed to return home.

At dinner time Ben. Towson, the old reliable stage driver, was temporarily acting as clerk at the Woodford Hotel, and when Col. W. B. Showalter came to settle his bill the price of meals had gone up fifty per cent., Ben. claiming that as Bill stayed at a one-horse tavern down here, where a man could not get a good square meal, he had eaten twice as much as he ought to and should be charged accordingly. A compromise was finally fixed up by Bill agreeing to take Ben along the next time he went to look for his cow and he was let off with the regular price.

At two o'clock the slow work of "gitting" a jury was begun, and after about fifty persons had been requested to state their place of residence and occupation, tell whether they had formed or expressed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the accused, give their views on capital punishment, etc., the following gentlemen were awarded the privilege of sitting on hard chairs, against a brick wall, where no breeze will be liable to strike them, and listen to lawyers badger witnesses for the next two or three weeks: Dan. Glanton, Joe. Cox, H. S. Banta, Will Coke, Chas. C. Newton, A. Douglas, Frank Roberts, John C. Hawkins, H. F. Showalter, J. H. Dickerson, Z. H. Reed, and Granville Dickerson.

Hawk's came and kids failed to have the effect he predicted upon the attorneys, and he was seated among the elect.

Newt. thought he was safe, as his name was near the last on the list, but he found that the last were first into the jury box.

Old Show. was given a seat in the box on the first round, but a peremptory challenge caused him to go out and see if Ben. had left town.

Many of the boys stood no show in the raffle, as their names failed to reach the hat, but there were no blanks—they got the $3.12 prize all the same.

Three dollars and twelve cents is what it cost the State for every man who went to Versailles and was not taken on the jury.

Jeff. was the first man fired from the first twelve called; he was too good looking, and knew a right smart.

The Ground Hog and Jud. were not thought of in the race, although the latter can handle an umbrella in the sun and in dodging tree limbs with the ease and grace of a country parson.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

Harp.

Born, on July the 1st, to Hugh Burns and wife, a fine boy.

Frank Rogers is very low with consumption and is not expected to live long.

Crops need rain very bad, though we have good corn and oats, tobacco is a failure.

Mr. O. B. Polsgrove will start to Louisville tomorrow with about fifteen bushels of tobacco.

Rev. J. A. Peters preached at Rogers' Grove near his mill last Saturday and Sunday evening at 4 o'clock to large congregations.

Little Willie V. Rodgers, son of G. L. Rogers, can answer more Bible questions than any Sunday-school boy of Antioch; he is only five years old, tackle him.

We had the pleasure of witnessing the big baptizing on Flat Creek last Thursday—only fifty-nine baptized. The meeting is going on yet at Lebanon Church. Several joined this week.

Mr. James H. Young and Read Quire fought a duel at Bald Knob Saturday; the fence was between them, neither of them got hurt. Also Doni Borton and Major Black had a little skirmish, but the Major would not stand.

Messes. Hugh Burns and Read Quire gave a picnic last Friday and made a failure on account of the ladies. Jeff said Lizzie Branton and Read Quire and James Foster was not the crowd for her girls to dance with—her girls cannot keep company with poor folks.

James Oman found a notice over his door last week telling him to go to work or they would dress him; he went and hired out to Mr. R. L. Bailey. We saw him cross the pike yesterday with a lot of bacon on his back. Let him alone, boys, he is going to live while he does live.

OLD RUSTY CUS.

Antioch

Crops are beginning to show the effects of the drought.

Miss Sallie Hopper was reported on the sick list last Monday.

Blackberries are ripe and there is about one berry to every three pickers.

Bro. William Smith has been conducting a meeting at the Stony Creek school-house this week.

Messes. Newt and Carter Hale and Messrs. W. E. and Mrs. S. E. Stivers spent last Sunday with James Gore and family.

There was a large crowd at Antioch last Sunday, Frankfort, Belle Point, Bald Knob, Cedar Run and Blooming-ton being represented.

Mr. Monroe Crutcheff, who was injured by falling from a scaffold in Winchester a few weeks ago, is now at Mr. Bryan's and doing finely.

President Dave is determined to put his pike through without any foolishness in the matter. He always thought that whenever Dave put his shoulder to anything it must either move or break.

The people should not forget that the magistrates will be elected next year, and that the next meeting will be selected. Some of our present board of magistrates are as much fitted for the position as a hog is for holiday.

Mr. H. M. Moore, of Cedar Run, was out last Sunday. He must have gotten some other fellow's girl, as he had her at Antioch in the morning and at the Stony Creek Sunday-school in the evening and never got home until Monday morning.

Relief from Catarrh.

Prof. W. P. Johnson, Principal of the Public Schools in Benton, Arkansas, under the date of March 17, writes: "This certifies that I have been a sufferer from catarrh for nearly 18 years, being a portion of the time incapacitated from attending to my business. Tried a number of most eminent physicians North and South; spent over $500. I was partially deaf, a quantity of bones resembling fish scales came out of my nose and head, and I was at one time reduced to 70 pounds. Ten bottles of S. S. S. cured me sound and well, and I am so to-day. It is the best blood purifier I have ever used."

W. P. JOHNSON.

Phaeetia.

My wife has been suffering for seven long years with what the physicians called inflammation of the veins. I tried doctors time and again, without deriving any benefit whatever. At the suggestion of my druggist, J. C. Hightower, I went to Dr. J. C. Swift's specific, which in an incredible short time restored her to perfect health. I might say a great deal more about the medicine, and will say that it ought to be in every house. It is a cheap doctor, having saved me hundreds of dollars. C. F. DUNCAN, March 28, 1885. Clayton, Ala.

Rev. J. T. Burton has been conducting a protracted meeting at Lebanon Baptist Church, in this county, the past two weeks. There have been seventy-two additions to the Church, fifty-nine were immersed on Saturday.

GENERAL GRANT'S CASE.

"Some One Has Blundered!"—Can it be Possible?

The New York Herald says: "If General Grant should recover from a disease which should prove not to have been what it has been described, then his medical attendants will be expected to explain the reasons for one of the most remarkable instances of discrepancy ever recounted in the history of medical practice."

This seems to have been the sole purpose of General Grant's attending physicians. They were making a drama comfortable, but they were not curing their patient. He amazes them by getting better!

The medical journals to diagnose and properly to treat General Grant's disorder was a serious blunder, emphasizing what has so often been said, that professional treatment, being purely experimental, is just as likely to be wrong as right.

Had the General an ulcer on his arm the physicians could have treated it scientifically, very scientifically. He might have recovered or they might have cut his arm off. Some dear old soul of a grandmother, however, might have treated the sore by some "old woman's remedy" and healed it, but there would have been no "professional science" in such a proceeding, as her remedy would not be one recognized by the code!

The general's physicians excused themselves, because the condition of the patient was such that they could not. There are thousands of cases where disease is hidden from sight, where the symptoms are very obscure and conflicting. The physicians will treat everyday's symptoms but they do not cure, and finally the patient dies. Then they discover they have made a mistake! A horrible mistake! The other day a prominent merchant in a neighboring city was found dead in bed. A post mortem examination revealed the fact that one of his other vital organs was entirely decayed, and yet his physicians had been treating him for heart disease!

Some one has blundered. For want of the American public have been waiting the unwelcome findings of General Grant's death. Today the General is up and around and riding out.

People get well often in spite of what their doctors say and do. Why? By will power? No. By faith? No. They live because outside the medical profession there are effective remedial agencies in nature which, though "unrecognized" by the code, have supreme power over disease, and in thousands of cases our triumphs where the medical science treatment utterly fails.

A prominent ex-cabinet officer is today on the very edge of the grave, suffering from a disease of the liver. His doctors know they cannot cure him. They simply are carrying a coffin.

The agony of death in many cases is read by surrounding friends in screams of pain, in convulsions of nerve, in spasms of torture—the fixed eye, the chilly breath, the dreadful counting, the bloody sweat—the supreme inflictions of pitiless disease upon a helpless body—indicate the limitation of professional skill.

Seventy-four of the deaths of this country every year are from hepatic and renal disorders, over which physicians have so little power. They will give them that and other things to make dying comfortable, but they know they cannot cure and yet they will not permit the use of remedies "unauthorized" by their code, whether they allopathic or homeopathic. If the system, as is common at this time of the year, has no tone, and one has tired and depressed feelings, the doctor will tell you the blood needs purifying, but he will not tell you what he knows to be true, that the blood is impure because the liver and kidneys are not performing their blood-purifying functions.

The failure of the physicians in General Grant's case ought to have an eye-opening effect upon the public. It ought to see the futility of trusting entirely in a profession whose practice is so largely experimental. The test of every remedy is whether any agency has won a record proved by the testimony of prominent men and women in all ranks of society, it stands to reason that such a preparation is worthy of universal confidence. Who has not heard of it? Who has not used it? Who can gainsay the statement that it has wrought greater benefit for mankind than any other ever discovered inside the ranks of the medical profession? And yet many physicians who are bound hand and foot to their code refuse to acknowledge its existence, and scribble the use of Warner's safe cure. Nevertheless, spite of all their small-minded bigotry, it multiplies instances of its singular merit by thousands every day, rests satisfied with the record it has won, and challenges comparison with the record of the most reputable physicians.

It is a terrible thing to lose our friends, especially if we find out afterwards that they might have been saved.

We are glad General Grant is getting well. He deserves to live and in living he will emphasize the fact that physicians do not have a monopoly over disease that "scientific medicine," so called, is not infallible that with remedial agencies were not born with doctors and will not die with them."

Master Burns, have just received a full line of Bolls which they are selling lower than anywhere in the city. Give them a call. July 18, 85.
